DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-8 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Wahlberg (US patent 2,286,449).

The patent to Wahlberg discloses the invention as is claimed. Wahlberg discloses a wiper device for a motor vehicle (10). The device includes a wiper arm (30, 32) and a control unit (38, 39), in the form of a mechanical part connected to the body of the vehicle separate from the arm, for controlling the position of the wiper blade (54) in relation to the wiper arm. Such position control is in accordance with an operating position of the wiper arm. The wiper arm includes leaf spring element (32) made of spring material which biases the wiper blade against the windshield (12) without articulation. Thus, the wiper arm and blade have a freedom of movement, towards and away from the windshield, achieved without articulation.

With respect to claim 3, the part (38) is considered as a second wiper arm.

With respect to claim 5, note that the component (40) of Wahlberg can be considered as the different mechanical connecting part. Such is arranged in overlapping relation with the wiper arm and acts to control the position of the wiper blade.

With respect to claim 6, note that the component (40) can be considered as the coupler essentially rigidly connected to the wiper blade and coupled to ends of the wiper arm and connecting part.

With respect to claim 7, since the connecting part is of spring material, it is considered to have a flexible partial area. At least as far as defined.

With respect to claim 8, as the wiper arm is thickened (see fig. 2) toward the end distal to the wiper blade, it is considered to have a profile that reinforces.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claim 9 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Wahlberg (US patent 2,286,449) in view of Jallet et al (US patent 6,739,018).

The patent to Wahlberg discloses all of the above recited subject matter with the exception of the wiper arm having a spoiler profile in at least one area.

The patent to Jallet discloses forming a one-piece wiper arm (10,fig.2) with at least one area (20, S3, S4, S5) embodied as spoiler profile.

It would have been obvious to one of skill in the art to profile the wiper arm of Wahlberg as a spoiler along at least a portion thereof, as clearly suggested by Jallet, to enhance the performance of the arm by increasing downforce. Use of spoiler profiles on wiper arms and blades is well established.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Note the patent to Egner-Walter which discloses spoiler shaped arms. Also, note Kolb and D'Alba which disclose overlapping wiper arms and control arms.
